

May 18, 1929

Mr. John E. Wayman, Sr.
28 Cowan Street
Pittsburgh, Pa. U.S.A.

Sir:

It was an extreme act of kindness to send me your radiogram informing me of the probable weather condition on May 9, 1929. For your own satisfaction, I must admit that the conditions in Iloilo itself were not greatly different from what you foretold. In few towns in the interior of Panay it rained or it was overcast. In Cebu, the expedition was a partial failure. In Iloilo, the U.S. Naval party took a series of wonderful photos of the corona.

Many thanks for your kindness and interest.

Very sincerely yours,

MIGUEL SHELGA
Director, Weather Bureau.
